For more than fifty years has PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER stood the test against all remedies prepared to eradicate pain, and today stands at the head of the list among the medicines that are so essential to keep at hand in the home.

It is not a new fangle remedy nor do the proprietors lay claim to any wonderful revelation of the ingredients that enter into the manufacture of this ever popular remedy.

It is perfectly harmless, you need have no fear of becoming habitually inclined to its use.

For Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, Colds, and all painful affections, a few doses will certainly give relief. You cannot afford to be without a bottle in the house.

Your forefathers used it and found it beneficial.

Why experiment with some remedy that is new and its effect on the system unknown?

It has many rivals but no equal.

The new 35c. size contains over double the quantity of the 25c. size.

How to Starch and Iron Them Equal to a Laundry.

Put some raw starch in a pan with a little water, say 3 tablespoonfuls of starch to 6 tablespoonfuls of cold water. Cover with a paper to keep the dust out and leave it to blend. Next morning take half a teaspoonful of lump borax, bruise it, and set it to boil in a clean saucepan, with 8 tablespoonfuls of cold water. Stir occasionally and boil till every particle of borax is dissolved, then add half a teaspoonful of pure glycerin, pour the mixture into a basin and let cool.

Then mix all together, and when the starch is smooth add a few drops of blue to give it a nice, clear color. Now take a piece of best white curd soap and rub it between your hands among the starch till the mixture is quite frothy, like a basin of soap bubbles. Starch the articles in this and roll in a towel overnight.

You will require a small basin of cold water, a thin, old handkerchief and a small piece of soft, white muslin. And close to where the irons are heating have a small wooden box filled inch deep with powdered bath brick, an inch of wax candle tied in a linen rag and a small piece of white writing paper.

Take the hot iron, rub it well among the sittings in the box, then blow off the dust, rub it on a duster. Hold it up and rub all over the face with a "waxy cloth." Then instantly polish on brown paper and turn the iron so that its edges all come in for a share of the rubbing. Test the heat by passing the iron heavily over the bit of writing paper.

Unroll the end of the towel and take out one collar, lay it right side down on the table, rub out the creases with the piece of muslin, then spread the handkerchief over the collar and pass the iron over it rather lightly twice. Remove the handkerchief, turn the collar right side up, rub over with iron twice, turn collar again quickly, iron once.

Repeat the process, pressing more heavily each time and making more effort to smooth out the collar, till steam ceases to rise from the linen. Rub the iron, at last turning rather heavily on the right side. Now lay the collar flat on the table, wrong side down, and catch by buttonhole nearest you, pass the point of the iron quickly along the surface and roll the collar back on itself to curl it.
